Overview

Portland State University ranks 208 out of 257 schools in the 2026 College Free Speech Rankings with a score of 54, an F speech climate grade. The university retains a “red light” Spotlight rating for restrictive policies. Even so, administrators in 2025 allowed a Turning Point USA event to proceed despite calls for cancellation and publicly affirmed free expression values, earning a small bonus that modestly boosted the score.

Student perceptions offer one clear highlight: PSU places in the top 10 nationally for “Self-Censorship,” suggesting comparatively few feel compelled to stay silent. No other area breaks into the top 50, leaving the broader speech climate weak.

PSU could make meaningful progress by overhauling its speech codes to earn a “green light” Spotlight rating and by formally adopting the Chicago Statement to affirm its commitment to free expression.
